

Why do my solar panels need cleaning?

Solar panels work by allowing light into the solar cells. The less light that hits the cells, the less electricity and money you create. Light can be blocked out of the solar cells with dust, bird droppings, lichen and other detritus, or dirt build-up. If you left your car on your driveway for 6 months, you would lose a lot of visibility through the windscreen due to detritus build-up. The rain alone would not clean your windscreen. Therefore, the same principles hold true for solar panel cleaning. It is very important to maximise the light getting into the solar panel and in turn, increase your financial reward. This is perfectly demonstrated in the picture above.

Do My Solar Panels Need Any Other Maintenance?

Yes. Again, like your car, your solar panels, inverters and other components require periodic maintenance. We provide standard and bespoke operations and maintenance contracts to suit every need. This will give you peace of mind that your solar array will be running smoothly for its lifetime.

If you look to sell your home in the future, potential buyers are reluctant to purchase homes with solar panels which have no service history. Having a solar maintenance contract in place with a reputable company will protect your solar array for the long-term and can also aid a possible house sale in the future.

There have been numerous fires on rooftops that have been directly linked to installations of solar panels that were installed below the required regulations and standards. For more information, please see:

Our electrical service and inspection services check the safety aspects of your solar array to ensure your system complies with electrical regulations and is safe.
